

Bright Green Spots

Longshots & Special Features

... are the things you do for creativity, experiment and fun, public recognition and learning, client recognition and education, with a purpose of pushing the visible envelope of sustainability, and getting the kind of special credit for a project team it mainly earns with all the invisible stuff...!

... longshots are also things that connect with others over long distances, that build the global relationships by making us break out of and forge links between the many local hives of knowledge we naturally settle into, making gestures and explorations beyond your normal boundaries.
